1. PROJECT DESCRIPTION

Freelancer is a marketplace where employers and employees are able to find each other. The site allows employers to post work for site members who place bids in a competitive tender process. The site also allows members to host and enter contests for which prize money is offered as a reward.

Freelancers and employers develop profiles on the site as they offer, win and complete work and write and receive reviews of people they work with or for. The site's members receive a finite number of bids to use on the site, which are periodically replenished. A series of account options are offered, ranging from free accounts through to professional subscriptions.

Freelancer takes a 10% fee, which can be reduced with paid monthly membership.

OBJECTIVE

The main objective of this Create Freelancer Website is to help companies find and hire Independent professionals for temporary job roles or special projects.

These platforms offer a marketplace for businesses to browse profiles of freelancer candidates based on skills, experience, location, or other criteria.

Freelancers are self-employed individuals who are not contractually bound to one specific employer. Freelancers can work in virtually any sector, though most work in marketing and communications, creative arts, and information technology.
